Arthur Gray: In Memorium

After conducting the evening worship service, the Rev. Dr. Arthur D. Gray died sometime Friday night, June 22, 1979 at the General Synod, Indianapolis, Indiana.

One of the principals in the formation of the United Church of Christ, Dr. Gray was widely known and widely respected. Not only did he hold every volunteer office in the United Church, but he was a tireless worker for the achievement of equal rights.

Ordained as a minister in the Congregational Christian Churches, he began a 10 year pastorate at Plymouth Congregational Church in Washington, D.C. He then served as pastor of the Church of Good Shepherd, Chicago until 1952, when he became the first Black to be elected President of Talladega College, Talladega, Alabama.

Some 10 years later he returned to the parish at Chicago's Congregational Church of Park Manor, from which he retired in February, 1977. In 1969 he was a candidate for the presidency of the United Church of Christ. In October, 1978, he was named interim President and Minister of the United Church's Massachusetts Conference and served until March, 1979.

Dr. Gray was 72 years of age.

New church sign, Button Gwinnett UCC

Charter Sunday Celebrated By Button Gwinnett, UCC

Some 100 persons were present to celebrate the signing of the Charter of Button Gwinnett United Church of Christ on Sunday, June 3, 1979. The first of five new church starts in the Southeast Conference, Button Gwinnett UCC has purchased a site in Lilburn, Georgia where the future church plant will be constructed.

Some 47 out of 52 Charter Members were present to affix their signature to the Charter Document, the signing of which was incorporated into a special service of worship held in the gym of the school building across from the new church property. In addition to members of the sponsoring Committee, other special guests included William Andes, Floyd Carmack and William Scott all of whom were representing the Southeast Conference, United Church of Christ.

Following the worship service, Church Moderator, Wayne Austin, unveiled the church's new sign.

The congregants of Button Gwinnett UCC are now involved in an intensive church growth program.

Button Gwinnett is one of a projected five new church starts that will get underway within the Southeast Conference

Are You Ready?

Are you ready to help your Neighbors in Need? Each year, members of the United Church of Christ are invited to respond to the needs of some of their neighbors by giving to the Neighbors in Need all-church offering. Most congregations receive gifts for NIN on the first Sunday of October — this year, October 7.

The proceeds from the 1979 NIN offering will provide basic amounts for new programs that have been designated by the UCC Executive Council as follows:

—$110,000 to the Office for Church in Society for "Aid for Newly-Arrived Immigrants."

—$200,000 or one-third of the net offering (whichever is larger) to the Council for American Indian Ministry for "Ministries for American Indians."

—$125,000 to the Commission for Racial Justice for "Rights for Mentally Retarded Alleged Criminal Offenders."

—$85,000 to the United Church Board for Homeland Ministries for "Community Betterment in Urban Areas."

—$75,000 to the Office of Communication for "Television Spot-Announcements on the Church's Role in Combating World Hunger."

Each congregation of the United Church of Christ should receive its bulk shipment of promotional materials for the Neighbors in Need offering by the end of August. Shipments should be opened at once to see if they contain sufficient quantities for promotion of the offering or if an order for additional material should be placed. Note that September 17 is the recommended date for American Indian Sunday, a part of the annual NIN observance.

Southern Alabama Camping News

At the summer meeting of the Southern Alabama Area Council the evaluation of the spring mini-camp for junior and senior highs was the main business on the agenda. This weekend event, held April 20-22 at Marianna, Florida on Mexico Beach was enjoyed by some 103 youth and leaders.

The food service was provided by Bobby Stalnecker, a mess sargeant with the Alabama National Guard in conjunction with Alton Nixon who purchased the food. James McAdams was chief dishwasher with other adults pitching in their help in the kitchen. Cost for the camp was only $15 per person.

J.K. Murphy was program director and Lena Dollar as publicity director is already planning the campaign for the upcoming camp for pre-junior highs (intermediates) for the first weekend in October.

successive biddings. Mr. Herbert Hale of Pleasant Hill managed the construction with the result that in its inspection tour, FmHA administrations commented favorably on the quality of the construction which was apparent in the buildings. They said that only seldom do they see buildings of such caliber.

As a result of the saving, FmHA approved using the remaining portion of the Authorized loan to purchase a much needed tractor. It is a medium-size Ford 1600 series diesel which will be used for maintenance and for snow removal on Uplands property.

Summer Institute of Religion Enjoyed

Some 17 ministers and lay leaders from five Associations within the Southeast Conference attended the Summer Institute of Religion, held June 11-15 at LaGrange College, LaGrange, Ga.

Each day began with Chapel and was followed by a Bible Study taught by Dr. David Neglee, entitled "Old Testament Themes and New Testament Faith." Dr. Charles McCook lectured on "Historical Foundations for New Testament Understanding."

Following lunch each day Dr. Naglee addressed "Sermon Building from Old Testament Themes," after which the participants spent the balance of the afternoon in the college library in sermon preparation. After dinner, both Dr. Neglee and Dr. McCook spoke on "Preaching the Living Truths."

On Thursday evening, the students drove down to Oak Grove Church at the invitation of Pastor Scovill for a picnic dinner and to see slides and walk over the Fair grounds of the Oak Grove Country Fair. One half of the tuition of each of the students is paid by the Oak Grove Foundation which makes its philanthropic gifts through its annual Fair.

This year the Oak Grove Foundation is also assisting the Alabama-Tennessee Association ministers with two of their semi-annual Spiritual Retreats for Ministers and Spouses.

Ala-Tenn Youth To Meet

Youth representing the churches of the Alabama-Tennessee Association will meet at Huntsville United Church, Huntsville, Alabama on Saturday, August 18 from 10:00 a.m. to 6:00 p.m.

Along with adult advisors, the youth will participate in a process of planning Association-wide youth activities for the coming year.

GA-SC Youth Clustering

The clustering of churches in youth ministry is strongly advocated by the Youth Core and individual Christian Education leaders. Three such activities in the metro Atlanta area have been by the GA-SC Association's Committee for CE. Three of the churches participated in a matinee performance presenting an intergenerational drama at the Academy Theater on Sunday, January 28. The performance was followed at the theater by discussion with audience and artists. The UCC youth were then guests of First Congregational Church for a spaghetti dinner.

The second cluster was held at Norris Lake, Gwinnett County, where youth and their families, with UCC ministers in specialized ministries as special guests, gathered for a picnic dinner, swimming and games, and Summer Camp orientation. Churches participating were Rush Memorial, Central and Button Gwinnett.

The third cluster event was one in which 10 selected Senior Highs constituted a 10-day unit on Sr. High Leadership Development at Camp Calvin. Part of their assignment was that of being counselors for 30 inner city children at Day Camp for five days. Churches participating were Central, Cobb, First and Rush Memorial. The camp director was highly complementary of the group and added that these children from Carver Homes would not have had a Day Camp if the UCC youth unit had not gone to lead.

Rev. William Scott, pastor of Central Congregational Church, UCC in Atlanta, commissioned the group and their Director on Pentecost, June 3 — sending them out in the name of the church on their mission.

The Energy Crisis: Five things You Can Do!

What can you do to help the energy crisis? Try these suggestions:

—Keep a limit of 68 degrees on heating and 76 degrees on air conditioning.

—Car-pooling, walking, or taking public transportation as often as possible and limiting pleasure-driving.

—Avoiding over-packaged goods, highly refined and processed foods, and non-returnable containers or ones that cannot be recycled.

—Insulating or otherwise improving the energy-efficiency of dwellings.

—Spending savings on education, health care, community organizations, etc. and not on energy-consuming activities.

AROUND THE CONFERENCE

From the Atlantic Ocean to the Mississippi River, from the Gulf of Mexico to the mountains of Tennessee, the Southeast Conference covers a broad expanse of territory. Contained within her boundaries are some 120 churches — widely dispersed — widely diverse in heritage and religious expression — and yet united in the conviction that the churches of Jesus Christ “may all be one.”

Representing the seven UCC churches of Roanoke, Alabama is First Congregational-Christian Church, UCC which was founded on September 16, 1923. In October of that year the church was admitted to membership of the Alabama Christian Conference at its Annual Meeting held in Cragford, Ala.

Some three years later, in 1926, the church's present building was constructed. In 1950 brick veneer was added to the building and in 1955 the building received a steeple. The most recent additions to the church were completed in 1972 when a Fellowship Hall was constructed and the interior of the church was renovated.

First Church, Roanoke, is also the site of the East Alabama Association Library which began with books from the libraries of the Reverends C. Carl Dollar, Jesse H. Dollar and Joe E. French.

While the church has never passed the 100 mark in membership, it has been the site of the ordination of four ministers into the Gospel ministry.

Of the original 15 chapter members of the church, two are still living: Mrs.

Gertrude Hood and Mrs. Cora Head.

Rev. Joe French has been the pastor since 1972.

The Strength of Community

The sequoia trees on the West Coast are the oldest trees in this country and may be some of the oldest living things on our planet. It is believed that some of these trees were living six hundred years before Moses led his people out of bondage.

The secret of their long life has been the subject of much research. One of the major factors is said to be their interdependence. The roots of the sequoia trees are not deep. There is no central tap root. But always these trees live in clumps. Their roots intertwine, and they hold each other up. The strength of one is the strength of all. It is unlikely that a sequoia tree, standing alone, could survive.

One of the secrets of a living congregation is a sense of mutual interdependence. Some call it a sense of community — feeling responsibility for one another, supporting one another, praying for and with one another, working with one another, joining others in the pilgrimage of being disciples.

There is strength in community and the church is community — the Body of Christ.
